RASMUSSEN TEXACO PAVEMENT BID ACCEPTED

$100,000 JOB LET BY COUNCIL MONDAY EVENING

Asphalt Salesmen Furnish "Fireworks" When Aldermen Act on Project

Stevens Point's $100,000 job of street paving, the largest single project of its kind undertaken in Wisconsin this year, will be done by J. Rasmussen & Sons company of Oshkosh, and Texaco asphalt will be used.

That was determined by the common council at a special meeting Monday evening, when, after a spirited controversy, at one point in which it appeared that the matter would be laid over until the July meeting, it was voted 11 to 1 to authorize the board of public works to enter into a contract with the Rasmussen company.

The resolution passed by the council did not specify Texaco, but the intent was plain, inasmuch as the board of public works had presented a report stating that the Rasmussen bid of $1.15 per square yard was the lowest and best and recommending its acceptance. The board, on authority granted by the council, will therefore award the contract for Texaco to the Rasmussen company.

Question of Material

The debate in the meeting, which at times became quite heated, was entirely on the question of the type of construction, and the presence of representatives of two asphalt producers and their appearance on the floor furnished the "fireworks" of the evening. E. J. Pfiffner and W. E. Fisher, appearing as private citizens, also took part in the discussion.

E. L. Abell, representing the Barber Asphalt company of Milwaukee, appeared before the council in advocacy of Trinidad asphalt, on which the Rasmussen company bid $1.31 a square yard, which is 16 cents higher than the Rasmussen bid for Texaco. Mr. Abell, while admitting that the bids for Texaco and Trinidad were both good—the lowest he had seen in years—argued that Trinidad would be worth the additional cost. He pointed out that in asphaltic concrete there is only eight per cent of asphalt, and that the quality of this as a binder for sand and stone determines the durability of the paving. He said that Trinidad is a natural asphalt, taken from asphalt lakes, while Texaco is a derivative of petroleum, and will not stand up the same as Trinidad.

J. F. Gallagher, representing the Texas company, producers of Texaco, challenged some of Mr. Abell's statements and pointed to the Normal avenue paving in Stevens Point to prove Texaco's lasting qualities. Mr. Gallagher said that Engineer W. F. Reichardt, in calling for bids, laid down certain requirements for all materials. Texaco, he declared, had complied with all of these requirements and therefore the question simmered down to the question of cost. Inasmuch as the Texaco bid was the lowest, he asserted, the council could not conscientiously turn it down.

McDonald for Trinidad

"I don't believe our engineer has endorsed any particular asphalt," Alderman R. K. McDonald declared. "I have been approached by many people in the last two weeks—people who believe that in view of the size of the contract great care should be used in deciding on the type of construction. They feel we ought to get the best, and practically all of them have favored Trinidad."

"I have been approached by 100 or 150 people myself," Mayor Welsby replied. "The paving question has also been the topic of curbstone arguments. As mayor elected by the people I want to save that 16 cents a yard if I can, but that difference should not be considered if justified by the merits of the higher priced material. At the request of a private citizen, not in any way connected with an asphalt company, I wired to Linn White, chief engineer of the South Park commission, Chicago, as to the truth of the statement that Texaco pavement laid on Grand boulevard in that city in 1912 has not cost one cent for maintenance to date. Here is the message I sent:

"'I am informed Texaco asphaltic concrete laid over old macadam foundation

COUNCIL MAY ISSUE MORE SEWER BONDS

Need of New Construction Is Emphasized at Meeting Held Monday Evening

When Alderman M. Cassidy of the Second ward told the council Monday evening that owners of property on Elks street, between Brawley and Mill streets, want a sewer laid there and are willing to advance the money, he started a debate which may be far reaching in its effects.

Mr. Cassidy explained that the Elks street people were willing to pay for the improvement now and be reimbursed at a time when the sewer, left to be constructed in its regular order, would be put in. He pointed out that this has been done on several occasions. Aldermen Redfield and Donnermyer took the stand that all sewers should come in their regular order.

The need of additional sewers was emphasized by Mayor Welsby, who said he thought the city should issue more bonds and go ahead with the work this season. He advocated a "clean sweep." The mayor also told the council that the state had warned the city that a sewer must be built this year on Madison street to connect with the old Soo line shops. City Attorney Atwell said there would probably be about $5,00 left in the sewer fund, for which $25,000 was raised by the sale of bonds, after the work now in progress is completed.

The sewer question was laid over with the understanding that it would be brought up at the July meeting of the council for action one way or another.

TRAINMEN'S PAY ON THE SOO LINE NOT ALL PROFIT

Actual Case Shows $182.50 Earned in Month, Expense on Road at Least $32.50

In the large vocabulary of railroad parlance, appears the name "Chain Gang." Trainmen are more familiar with the term than others, for it is in their division of railroad work that it is used.

Brakemen, firemen, engineers, conductors, in the freight service who work on "extras" are in the Chain Gang. They are "pooled" and when their turn comes, which in slack times is sometimes far apart, and in busy times means long hours, short rest and more long hours, they are "called" out to work, be it night or day, fair weather or foul.

In these times of slack business on the railroads, and wage cuts, it is interesting to know why trainmen are paid their present wages, the hours trainmen spend at work, how much of their time is spent away from home, and what it costs them to live when they are out of town.

Costs $2 to $3 a Day

Investigation by the Journal discloses that trainmen, unless they live in the caboose, and carry their meals, which they cannot do unless they are to be away from home for a very short space of time, must pay from $2 to $3 a day to live. Some live on less, it costs some more, but the average is about those figures.

Here's a Real Case

A brakeman's work is interesting. Let's follow the work of one, whom we shall call Mr. O—of Stevens Point, during the month beginning February 16, and terminating March 15, 1921. A record of this man's time, where he went, and how long he remained away from home is taken from his time records. This is an actual case:

February 16—Ran on an extra on the Marshfield-Nekoosa turn-around. (A turn-around is a term used by trainmen when they make a trip from a terminal to destination and return, which is counted as one run, and is usually about 100 miles in length). As Mr. O— lives in Stevens Point, he is away from home.

February 17—Again on the Marshfield-Nekoosa turn-around.

February 18—Ran from Marshfield to Stevens Point, his home.

February 19—Stevens Point to Park Falls. Put in 14 hours and 50 minutes on that run.

February 20—Park Falls to Stevens Point. Called it a day at 13 hours and 30 minutes.

February 21, 22 and 23 at home.

February 24—Stevens Point to Park Falls. Fourteen hours of work.

February 25—Park Falls to Mellen turn-around. Put in 13 hours.

February 26—Park Falls to Stevens Point. Thirteen hours and 20 minutes.

February 27—Stevens Point to Park Falls. A shorter day. Only 11 hours and 50 minutes.

February 28—Park Falls-Mellen turn-around. A real, honest-to-goodness day—10 hours.

March 1—Park Falls to Mellen and return.

March 2—Home from Park Falls in 14 hours and 10 minutes.

March 3.—Stevens Point to Irvine. No extra time.

March 4.—Back home from Irvine. Ten hours and 35 minutes.

March 5—Stevens Point to Irvine.

March 6—Irvine to Stevens Point.

March 7 and 8—No work.

March 9—Stevens Point to Ladysmith in 10 hours and 51 minutes.

March 10—Back home from Ladysmith in 12 hours and 36 minutes.

March 11—Back on the Stevens Point-Park Falls run. Made it in 13 hours and five minutes.

March 12—Park Falls-Mellen turn-around.

March 13—Park Falls to Stevens Point.

March 14 and 15—No work and the end of the month.

Mr. O— received a check for $182.50 that month. That's a good salary, but let's see how much time he was away from home that month—which means that he had to maintain two homes—one where he hung his hat and the other in Stevens Point.

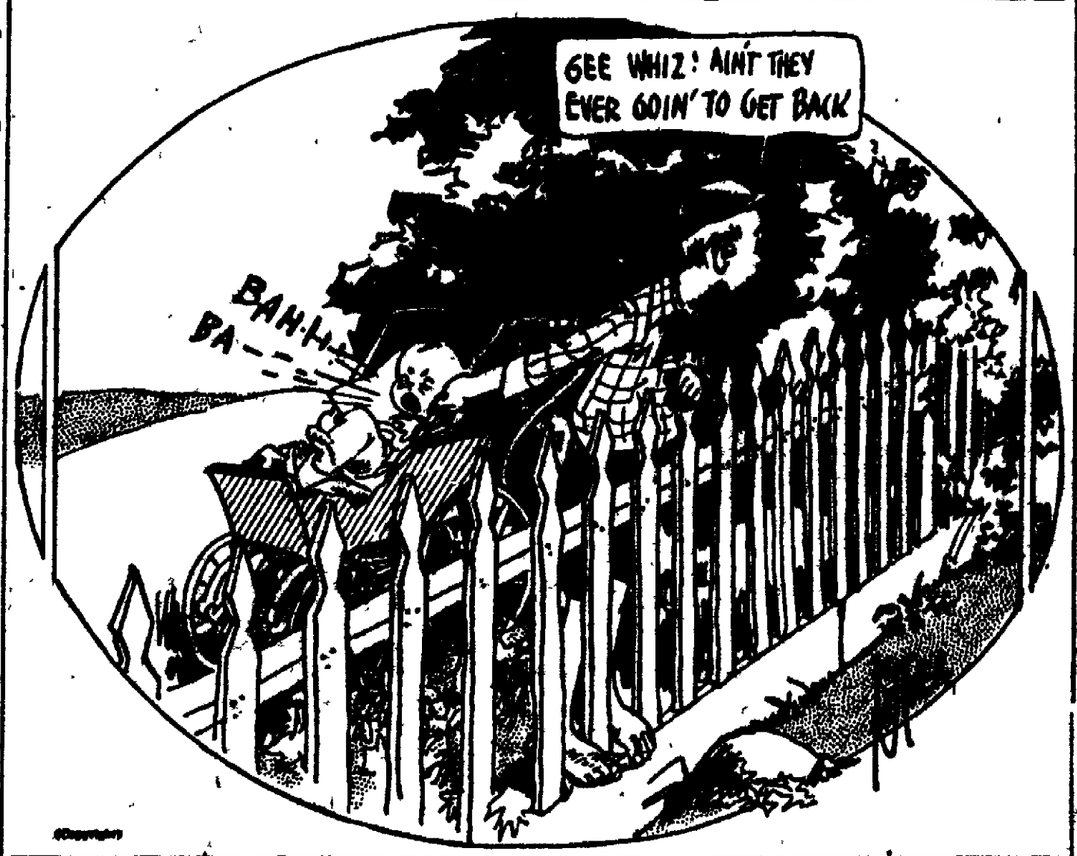
Away Half Time

Approximately 13 days out of a month of 30 were spent out of the city. In figuring the number of days Mr. O— spent out of town, the Journal computed only those days he ran out of Stevens Point, not the days when he was returning, and when he was actually out of town, as when he ran on the Park Falls-Mellen turn-around, or on the Marshfield-Nekoosa turn-around.

We must also consider, however, that actually he was away from home every time he was on a run. In a day of 12 to 14 hours, such as Mr. O— put in, he ate four meals, he said. He couldn't come home for dinner if he was miles away from home. Unless he cooked his meals in the caboose, such as is sometimes done in the winter, or carried them with him, which he might do in starting from home, he was forced to buy them.

On an average of $2.50 a day, which doesn't mean high living, it must have cost O— at least $32.50 while on the road, without affecting his home expenses more than his grocery and meat bill slightly. It would leave his net salary about $150 a month instead of $182.50. This is figuring his expenses most conservatively.

The Longest Day of the Year



LOCAL MAN INJURED THROWN FROM WHEEL

W. W. Owen Painfully Hurt in Night Accident on the South Side

W. W. Owen, 614 Church street, will be confined to his home for several weeks as the result of injuries he suffered in an accident on Church street near the South side just before midnight Monday.

Mr. Owen was riding his bicycle and was enroute to the Soo line yard office, where he is employed as a telegraph operator, when an obstruction in the street threw him forcibly from the vehicle. His left knee was severely wrenched and bruised and one elbow also bruised.

Mr. Owen continued on to the yard office but his injured knee became so painful that at 4 o'clock this morning he was compelled to give up his work and was taken to his home and a physician called. The knee was badly swollen today.

FAIR CIRCUIT ISSUES FOLDER TO HORSEMEN

A folder advertising the Central Wisconsin Fair Circuit to horsemen has been issued and calls attention to the $30,000 in purses assured race horses of the circuit, which includes Stevens Point, Wausau, Merrill, Marshfield, Chippewa Falls, La Crosse and Durand. Seven consecutive weeks of racing with short shipments are pointed out as a feature of the combination fairs. Entries for the first fair, the one in this city, will close August 9 and for the 44th annual race meet at Durand, the last event scheduled on the circuit, September 20.

Work Is Suspended On Hardware Block On Walters' Plea

Work on the new building of the Hardware Mutual Insurance companies at Clark street and Strongs avenue has been practically suspended since Monday afternoon following service of an order issued by Circuit Court Commissioner F. A. Neuberger on affidavit and complaint of Dr. F. A. Walters restraining C. R. Meyer & Sons company, the contractors, from using soft coal for the firing of two steam boilers used in the operations.

The order of the circuit court commissioner sets June 25, at 10 a. m., as the date of a hearing to show cause why a temporary injunction should not be granted. It is also ordered that until that hearing is held the defendant and its agents and servants shall desist from using soft coal in the boilers.

The C. R. Meyer & Sons company has taken steps to have the court commissioner's order set aside or to compel the furnishing of a sufficient security by the complainant to protect the company from loss in case the petition for an injunction is not sustained. A special hearing on this phase of the controversy was held before Circuit Judge B. B. Park at the court house in this city today.

Dr. Walters in his complaint, which is supported by an affidavit by S. E. Karner, a neighbor, sets forth that his home is across the street from the new Hardware Mutual building and that when the wind is in the right direction smoke and gases are blown upon his premises and into his office and residence, tainting and corrupting the air and depositing heavy soot on porches, windows and floors. He alleges that this condition endangers the health of himself and especially his wife, who, he sets forth, is in poor health. He also asserts that because of the condition referred to it is at times impossible for him to attend to his professional duties.

TWO SHOWS IN MORNING FOR CHILDREN ON 4TH

HATLEY RESIDENT KILLED BY TRAIN

Brother of Stevens Point Man Loses Life on Northwestern Right Of Way

Anton Pomorski of Hatley, a brother of Leo Pomorski, 832 Union street, was killed by a train on the Northwestern railroad early Monday morning at Hatley. The time of the tragedy and the manner in which it occurred are not known. The engine crew on the eastbound passenger train, which leaves Wausau at 2 o'clock in the morning, saw parts of the body strewn among the tracks and they notified the division official.

Coroner William C. Mellahn was called to the scene of the tragedy. It was learned that Mr. Pomorski had left the home of his father-in-law, Frank Check, at about midnight for his home, walking on the railroad track. A passenger and two freight trains had passed over the track between midnight and the time the body was found. The man was struck by a train about 400 yards east of the Hatley depot and parts of his body were carried along the right of way for a distance of 230 yards.

The deceased was born April 29, 1892, in the town of Pike Lake, now the town of Reid, Marathon county. He was united in marriage with Miss Dora Check on October 24, 1916. Surviving are his widow, three children, Verna, Marion and Adeline Pomorski, his father, John Pomorski of Hatley, four brothers, Leo Pomorski of Stevens Point, John Pomorski of the town of Reid, Thomas Pomorski of Hatley and Felix Pomorski of the town of Maine, and three sisters, Mrs. Anton Kluck of Hatley, Mrs. Nick Okneck and Mrs. T. Melinwiski of the town of Elderon.

Funeral services were conducted at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning at the St. Florian church at Hatley by Rev. John Karez. Interment followed in the Hatley cemetery.

BUYS JACOBS ANNEX AND WILL REMODEL IT

George W. Bell, 530 Strongs avenue, has purchased the home at 219 Strongs avenue, formerly used as the Jacobs House annex, from the Stevens Point Hotel company, and is now having it moved to Elk street.

The house will be located on the empty lot just north of the D. Dorrance property at 441 Elk street, and will undergo extensive renovations. It is to be converted into the bungalow type, and will be entirely modern throughout when finished.

SUPPORT NEEDED TO PUT M. P. M. TRACTOR ACROSS

James Vennie Makes Plea for Co-operation at Stockholders' Meeting

Enthusiastic support of the Farmers' Tractor Corporation was manifested Monday evening at the Pfiffner house, when stockholders and friends met to discuss the tractor and its prospective manufacture in Stevens Point.

The meeting was conducted by William Mainland of Oshkosh, who is one of the promoters, and he introduced as speakers C. B. Page of Page, [illegible] and White of Chicago, automobile engineers, and R. R. Hamilton, also of Chicago, who is promoting the sale in Stevens Point. James Vennie of this city represented the Trades and Labor council, and made a strong talk in the tractor's behalf.

Must Have Teamwork

"To put a proposition like this over we must have cooperation, we must have the team work of the city," he said. "I extend [illegible] attitude of some of our civic organizations when we bring a proposition that is sure, in a few years, to pay several thousand men, to place the cold shoulder. It's the same story. Several years ago a company wanted to come here, but it was not welcomed. Today that same company is located in Green Bay, where it pays thousands of men. We [illegible] help us put over this proposition. Why I have no doubt that the first year of its operation the Farmers' Tractor corporation will pay $2,000,000 worth of business to working people of the city should be proud to bring the factory here, and the business men of the city should be anxious to put the proposition over, for it means practically the fulfillment of the '25,000 in 1925' goal set by the local civic organizations," he continued.

Salesman Talks

R. R. Hamilton responded a public time to a request that he give a talk. Earlier in the evening he discussed the concern from a financial viewpoint, tracing the growth of the largest industries in the country, and discussing the steel and automotive industries in general. He told of the outstanding advantages of the M. P. M. tractor, and explained in detail its prospective marketing centers.

Mr. Hamilton responded to the request at the conclusion of Mr. Vennie's speech. "I don't know a blooming thing about your Chamber of Commerce here, but I do know that in a proposition like this it should give us the right hand of help, as Chambers of Commerce everywhere in any live city are doing. I know of many cities in the middle west that are anxious to get the Farmers' Tractor corporation to locate in their towns, and are willing to give land, even a building and a bonus. The Chamber of Commerce of Louisville, Ky., is operating under that principle now, in getting factories to locate in Louisville. As I said before I don't know a blooming thing about your Chamber of Commerce, but it must back all propositions if Stevens Point is to grow," he said.

All Ready to Boost

At the conclusion of Mr. Hamilton's talk, expressions of opinion were asked of those present. In a moment men in every part of the gathering were on their feet, ready to boost. Andrew J. Healy declared that he would do everything in his power to help put the proposition across, offering Mr. Hamilton his time in taking him about and introducing him to folks in the city. D. I. Smart, as well as several others, also proffered assistance to the corporation.

Newspaper View

F. W. Leahy of the Journal was called on by Mr. Mainland for an opinion. He said that he believed any company which had expectation of employing even 25, 50 or 75 men should be, and would be, welcomed by the retail business interests and professional men and newspapers. More men employed here would mean more customers for the newspaper, the butcher, the grocer and clothing and drygoods merchant, more patients for the doctor and dentist, more clients for the lawyer. The attitude of the town toward any industry wishing to locate here should be one of friendly recep-

Equal Treatment for All Parts of Town

Stevens Point is willing to pay a fair rate for its gas and water service. The state railway commission has recently given the gas company a substantial increase in its rates, not so much as the company asked, but what the commission held sufficient. The company feels it was not enough. It may, if it wishes, again go before the commission and ask for another advance. It has only to prove its case to get it. While local customers want the rates to be as low as possible, they are reasonable enough to accept the figures an impartial commission settles upon.

So far as the actual value of the water service is concerned, any price is too much for the kind of water the city gets. Yet it costs money to operate and give even the kind of water we get. We have to get along with poor water until such time as the city is prepared to provide for itself a full supply of good water. The water company is entitled to the rates necessary to pay its operating expenses and interest on the actual value of the property.

But outside of the question of rates, we should stand firmly on the principle that the people of all parts of Stevens Point are entitled to the same service from public utilities as the people of other parts of town. The people on Main street are no better than the people on Water street, and the people on Clark street are no better than the people on Union street. If there is going to be service in gas and water to the people of this city at all, we don't think that any streets, even those on the outskirts, should be held entitled to no consideration. It is not necessary that a public utility make money out of its service on every street; all that it may fairly ask is able. While the cases of Union and Water streets are acute because just now a pavement is to be put in and the underground work must be in first, the same point is going to arise as to other streets. It ought to be settled once for all.

Stevens Point is not, and should not be, unfriendly to the public utilities. It should work in harmony with them, insisting on good service and extensions where necessary and be ready to pay a reasonable return to the owners of those enterprises. The Wisconsin Valley Electric company, as we have often pointed out, has done much for Stevens Point. Year after year it has spent money freely in developing its plant and service until it has now one of the best lighting and power utilities in any city of this size. It has an enlightened management and we ought to encourage it to develop with the city. As to water, the city eventually will probably have its own plant when it is assured that it can get the present property for what it is really worth or when there is such change in Wisconsin law as will permit the city to build its own plant regardless of the old company.

An Incessant Propaganda

"No creed, no commercial policy, no social movement, no national pretension was ever so painstakingly propagandized throughout the world as is this fetish of certain large financial interests called internationalism," declares the Republican Publicity association. "There is a plethora of literature devoted to its cause, a multitude of public speakers are warm in its advocacy, and it has even wormed its way into the churches and colleges to be apotheosized and held up like the brazen serpent of Moses for the adoration of those who have lost faith in national identity. The cost of this propaganda must be colossal, but it represents not a tithe of the stake for which its supporters are playing. They are practical men, these suppers of nationalism, who employ impartially the doctrinaire or the sophist to advance their cause, believing that if they are successful in erecting a superstate they will come into complete control of the economics of the world.

"A typical instance of this propaganda was displayed on the occasion of the commencement day exercises of the American University in Washington, recently. To the credit of the governing board of the institution it may be said that they had no part in it, while the remarks of the chancellor of the university were thoroughly American. The invocation preceding the exercises was a direct appeal to the audience to support internationalism, while the address of the representative at the ceremonies from Canada was a homily in its behalf. It was therefore most inspiring to hear the reply of the principal speaker of the occasion, President Warren G. Harding, who slowly and in words which no listener could mistake, answered the Hon. Newton W. Rowell, of Canada as follows:

"'If I may suggest, without a discordant note, for there is none in my heart, I should like to call attention to the fact that the United States of America and the Dominion of Canada have dwelt side by side and settled their controversies without resort to a superpower; but by the exercise of the sovereignty of free peoples dealing with one another."

Building Up Stevens Point

No city is so great or so important that it can afford to stand still. There have been in the past cities which believed that by dispensing with certain of their activities they could save money; but the result has been a deplorable lack of civic pride, a gradual cessation of progressive effort and final stagnation of trade.

It is true there are many forces in a city which can be made to work for the city's betterment, but, while they are powerful and good and right, they are unable of themselves to accomplish the greatest things. The spirit of co-operation is the best way to pool strength, exert pressure and put things over. We don't think you can find a single example of the one man city which has been prosperous for any length of time. It is possible, of course, that the brilliant idea of some one man has worked out to practical advantage, but it has seldom been by that man's individual effort that the matter has been finally consummated and retained the progressive power which it at first implied.

Most great ideas have originated in the mind of one man, but there are certain human limits which cannot be exceeded, and that is the point where the co-operative spirit should be employed in order to bring the matter before the public from every angle, so that criticism, constructive ideas and suggestions, may be utilized for the greatest proportion of permanent success.

Many organizations have been tried in order to centralize the various progressive efforts of citizens, and the one which has proven most successful is that of the form of a Chamber of Commerce. Many reasons can be given for this, but it is first necessary for every member of the community to understand just what such an organization is; of what it is composed; the objects for which it stands and its methods of attaining the desired end.

City building, as a business or profession, is in a class by itself. Like every other business it requires intensive study—of men, methods and requirements—of possibilities, potentialities and permanent assets; of administration, finance and taxation; of education, recreation, transportation and markets. The great and underlying idea is to consider each and all of these subjects in relation to the population of the city, localizing and intensifying their application and thus bringing benefit to every member of the community, whether engaged in agriculture, commerce or industry, thus building up the whole structure.

Improving Our Rural Highways

Portage county is doing more work on its main traveled roads this year than in any previous year. Besides the eight miles of concrete on 10 and 18, it is building four miles of new road on 18 between Custer and Amherst, three and one-half miles of gravel on the Iola road, meaning an improved route from Stevens Point to Iola and central and northern Waupaca county; two and one-half miles of gravel on the Amherst-Alnont road in the town of Lanark, two and one-half miles of gravel between Custer and Poloma, giving the city a second road to Polonia; two miles of gravel on the Rudolph road, which is eventually to be a second first class highway between Stevens Point and Wisconsin Rapids; and is putting in almost three miles of grading on the Pleasant Valley road which, when graveled, will mean an excellent highway from Stevens Point all the way to the Lanark town line near the Lanark church on a prospective trunk line. It has also built a mile of gravel road at the south end of No. 10 and has put in several other important strips at various points. It is a big summer's work which will mean a vast improvement in the average of Portage county roads.

It is only a beginning, of course. The work must be kept up until we have concrete or asphaltic concrete highways on every state trunk line in the county and gravel on all the section line roads in every town, with regular maintenance on all of the latter grade of roads.

HIGHER RATES BUT NEW MAINS OFFICIAL SAYS

Commissioner Gettle Tells the Journal Extensions Are Usually Made

Probable installation of gas and water mains on Water and Union streets and a small increase in telephone rates, both to city and rural subscribers, were seen at the conclusion of the gas and telephond hearings before the railroad commission of Wisconsin late Thursday afternoon.

Commissioner L. E. Gettle, in a short interview with the Journal at the conclusion of the telephone hearing at 6 o'clock, said that although he could not speak for the entire commission he could say that "Usually in a case such as exists in Stevens Point when a city contemplates the installation of an improvement such as a permanent paving on a street, where there are no gas or water mains and the only factor to hinder the laying of the ne wstreet is a lack of gas and water mains, the commission, when petitioned by a city, has ordered the installation of these extensions, regardless of whether the revenue derived by the utility from such mains compensates for their installation.

Rates Must Go Up

"In the telephone case, however, I can say for myself, but not for the entire commission, that the company should get a slightly higher rate, both from city and rural subscribers, after they have made the necessary additions to their plant," he said. "You know the Wisconsin Telephone company can't continue to give the 'roadway' companies service for $3 a year in these times."

When City Attorney Atwell protested against a lengthy letter read by Brown Katzenbach of Wausau for the Wisconsin Valley Electric company, read Thursday morning at the gas hearing, in which it was set forth that the increase granted the gas company recently was not sufficient, representatives of the company replied that it referred to the present case to the extent that it showed that a company which was losing money every month could not be compelled to make further extensions into a district where it was believed the company would incur further losses. Commissioner Gettle accepted the letter as an exhibit of the company, saying "We will take it for what it is worth."

Extensions Cost $12,000

A. H. Sikes, superintendent of the Stevens Point gas and electric holdings of the company, declared on the stand in the afternoon that it would cost $12,000 to install the gas mains on Water and Union streets. He said that the company had made a canvass of the streets and had found that if they secured every possible consumer on Union street the yearly return would be about $600. If the same condition could be secured on Water street the company would get a return of $1,200, which, he declared, was far too low a return. Alois Firkus presented a petition to the commission in the morning, signed by practically every resident on Union street, asking for gas mains.

Would Do It Later

The Electric company offered the suggestion to the commission that in order not to hinder the work of paving on the streets, if left a wide enough parking the company could run two mains up the street, in each parking. Asked if it would not cost twice as much to do this as to install one main now, Mr. Sikes replied that it would, but that the company would willingly make this extra expenditure later, provided that there were enough consumers on the street and the company was in better financial condition.

City Attorney Atwell, in a cross examination of Mr. Sikes, drew from him the information that at present the company has gas service across the slough only on North Second street and that that main extends only to Sixth avenue. The large district between North Second and Prentice, where there is a short main, is unserved, Mr. Sikes said.

Telephone Hearing Long

The telephone hearing one in which both city and rural residents of Portage county were interested, was long and full of spats between company officials and representatives of the city and rural subscribers.

City Attorney Atwell and Mayor Welsby represented the city of Stevens Point, City Attorney for the rural or "roadway companies" as they were officially designated. J. R. Krizek was attorney for the Wisconsin Telephone company, and F. M. McEniry, commercial superintendent, represented the company as a witness.

Company Lost Money

Mr. McEniry first read a statement, which he offered as an exhibit, which went into detail as to the present business condition of the company. The statement declared that during the past year, the company had incurred a net loss of $3,370, or 3.46 per cent. Under the increased rates asked the company would earn, the statement said, about $6,581, or 6.76 per cent on an investment of $97,372.

The telephone company was frank to admit that the service in Stevens Point was not what it should be. "The service here is just a little below the standard," Mr McEniry said. "We haven't the working margin here we should like. But we have ordered much new equipment that is to be installed this summer. Some of the equipment is here now, and more is coming. When that is installed, Stevens Point will have an exchange that is fully up to the standard.

Make Many Improvements

"We will spend here $7,000 for switch board equipment, $1,100 for additional sub-station equipment, and $14,800 for an outside plant which is to be put in this year, probably next month. Lack of facilities and room on the switch board has forced us to refuse to take on new subscribers now, which we will be able to do after we get our new equipment in," Mr. McEniry concluded.

Mayor Welsby took the stand for a short time, reading a letter addressed to the commission, in which the earnings of the American Telephone company, which owns and controls the Wisconsin Telephone company, were declared to be at the rate of eight per cent. He also urged the commission to make its repairs and extensions out of past earnings, and not force Stevens Point and Portage county people to buy them. He called the commission's attention to the present industrial condition and tendency of dropping prices, in view of which the Telephone company should not expect higher telephone rates at this time. He read a number of letters from local people, who stated that although they had ordered phones as far back as September of 1920 and had paid their installation fee to the company, they had not received service yet, receiving the answer from the company that "there is no room on the board."

"Lots of Ten Minutes Service"

Mayor Welsby admitted that he had been somewhat angry with an operator on a certain Sunday morning recently, but that he had afterwad apologized to the opeartor for the way he had acted, saying that he knew she was not to blame, no, was Mr. Powell, he manager, but that inadequate facilities had hindered their work here. The Sunday he had received no service he found that there were but two operators at the local exchange and no chief operator fo long distance girl. He criticized the company for being slow. "I get a lot of five and ten minute service, but no five and ten second service," he said.

Representing the Coddingtgon Farmers Telephone company, the Dancy Telephone company the Illionis Mutual Telephone company, the Meehan Telephone company, the Plover Telephone company, the Porter Telephone company and the Torun Telephone company, Charles H. Cashin wager war for the country subscribers against the owners of the local exchange.

Little Extra Expense

Mr. Cashin's argument, which he drew from Mr. McEniry, was that the business of the rural exchanges did not materially affect the business of the local exchange and entailed very little extra expense. Representatives of the various rural telephone companies appeared and were cross examined by Mr. Cashin.

John Porter of Plover, a stockholder and one of the promoters of the Porter Telephone company, said after he had testified to the effect that the service was very poor and that for days at a time he couldn't get central. "If our rates are raised, we have decided that we will withdraw from the Stevens Point exchange."

Can't Get Doctor

Henry Marchel, secretary of the Dancy Telephone company, told how for several months at a time he couldn't get central, while at the same time paying regular rates. James Tobie, president of the Porter Telephone company, declared that a woman in his neighborhood had died while it took two hours for him to get central in Stevens Point to call a doctor. After he had failed to get central he went to Stockton and failed, and then had to go to Custer, where he got Stevens Point by calling long distance.

Henry G. Lutz of the Meehan Telephone company and F. L. Taylor of the Plover Telephone company took the stand and their statements bore up those of previous witnesses for the rural companies. Their service with the local exchange was not reggulgar and at times they were cut off entirely from Stevens Point, they said.

Rurals Own Fault

Officials of the telephone company stated that being cut off from central party was the "roadway" companies' own fault. The "roadway companies" didn't keep their carbon grounds clean, and for that reason were cut off, although they had fine service on their own circuits they said. The telephone company admitted that it was its own fault at times, but laid some of the blame of the rurals.

BIDDERS FIGHT; CITY TO REAP THE BENEFITS

(From Thursday Daily).

$100,000 Job Likely To Be Awarded to Oshkosh Concern

Five bidders engaged in the stiffest kind of competition for the job of repaving Stevens Point's macadam streets, and as a result a saving of at least $30,000 will accrue to the city of Stevens Point and owners of property on the streets to be improved.

This fact was disclosed Wednesday evening, when the board of public works, at a meeting in the council chambers, opened the bids for the work. The J. Rasmussen & Sons company of Oshkosh, the company which constructed the Normal avenue asphaltic concrete pavement in 1915, submitted a bid of $1.15 a square yard for Texaco asphaltic concrete, the same type of construction as used on Normal avenue. The next lowest bid on Texaco was $1.56, by John Weiher & Sons of Milwaukee.

J. Rasmussen & Sons company is just completing a big paving job at Ashland, and will be ready, in case it is awarded the local job, to start work here early in July. The contract specifies that the work must be completed by November 1, 1921, but it is probable that it will be finished by October 1. Main street, and probably Strongs avenue, will be completed by fair time.

The Paving Program

The streets to be improved under the contract to be awarded are as follows:

Main street from the intersection of Union street east to Michigan avenue.

Clark street, from the westerly end thereof east to Reserve street.

Third street from the intersection of Clark street south to Water street, and Water street where it adjoins Third street southeasterly to Brawley street.

Strongs avenue from the intersection of Clark street southeasterly to Division street.

Division street from the intersection of Main street south to Monroe street.

Second street from the intersection of Normal avenue north to North avenue.

To Cost $100,000

There will be approximately 75,000 square yards of surfacing in the job, in addition to which considerable concrete curb and gutter and some retaining curb at points where the surfacing ends will have to be constructed. The aggregate cost of the job complete will be approximately $100,000. The job is one of the biggest of the kind ever let outside the larger cities.

CERTIFIED POTATOES

More Than Usual to be Grown In the State This Year

Steady and strong demand, particularly from the south and east, is encouraging growers to equal last year's production of 290,000 bushels of Wisconsin certified seed potatoes.

Within a month inspection of about 4,000 acres of this year's crop will be under way. The work will be carried on under the direction of J. G. Milward, secretary of the Wisconsin Potato Growers' association and potato specialist at the College of Agriculture.

Mr. Milward predicts that the applications for inspection of potato fields will reach the 300 mark before the period for examination passes. The applicants will have their crop inspected twice during the season. If the fields, and later the bins meet the requirements as to type, freedom from disease, size, and quality, the growers will receive state certificates which will recognize them as producers of inspected and certified seed. These certificates will permit of the shipment under Wisconsin's special certified seed label.

Farmer organizations and county agents throughout the potato districts are cooperating to continue the work of growing standard varieties by communities. Whole localities in different sections of the state are concentrating on a few standard varieties. Leading counties in the work of community standardization are: Marinette, Oconto, Oneida, Price, Barron Washburn, and Rusk. Others engaged in the project are Portage, Chippewa, Forest, Langlade, Shawano, Vilas Waupaca, Waushara, Polk, Burnett and Sawyer.

COUNCIL O. K.'S CHURCH STREET PAVING PROJECT

Board of Public Works Directed to Get Plans and Bids

A resolution authorizing the board of public works to procure plans and advertise for bids for the construction of a permanent paving on Church street, between Rice street and Madison street, was passed by the common council Monday evening. The resolution was introduced by Alderman King of the Sixth ward.

The south end of Church street, up to Rice street, is included in the 18-foot concrete road project on Highway 10. The upper end of Church street, from Madison street to Main street, will be improved with asphaltic concrete. It is the plan to connect these two pieces with a permanent type of road, probably concrete. The macadam on Church street from Madison to Rice, is not suitable as a base for asphaltic concrete.

Alderman Schoettel said he also thought the new paving on Main street should run up to the fair grounds gate, even though it might be necessary to put in a base. This, with other questions regarding the new paving, was left to the board of public works with power to act.

Question of Lights

Mr. Atwell reported that George Pappas, proprietor of Pappas' Sweet Shop, had asked for permission to run a string of lights across Main street from the Majestic theatre building to his place of business. Some of the aldermen questioned the wisdom of granting such a request, feeling it might encourage others to do likewise and possibly result in the installation of lights of many different kinds. "What of it?" asked Alderman Firkus. "If we get enough lights like that we won't need a white way." Mr. Pappas' request will be taken up by the council at its July meeting.

To Open Water Street

No objection was made to granting the Wisconsin Valley Electric company permission to tear up the Water street pavement, from Brawley street north about 110 feet, to lay a new main to connect up "dead ends." The request will be granted by the board of public works with the understanding that the street be restored in proper shape for paving.

Can Build Sewer

There was also no objection to allowing August Walkush to have a sewer constructed on Briggs street, at his own expense, between Illinois avenue and Michigan avenue. This would bring a sewer to within 100 feet of the site of the proposed new armory building, Mr. Atwell said. The distance now is about 500 feet.

SUPPORT NEEDED TO PUT M. P. M. TRACTOR ACROSS

tion and willing assistance in anything reasonable it might need. He said that for a company not yet established and producing and selling goods, no careful man could make positive promise of dividends. Indeed it is not always possible for old established companies to make money. But here is what is said by engineers to be a good machine. Stevens Point men and former Stevens Point men are making vigorous efforts to finance it, build a plant and put it on the market. Should they succeed, they are bound to help the town, and certainly every citizen should want them to succeed to the fullest extent and should place no obstacles in their way.

Contest Announced

Announcement was made of the contest for a name for the tractor, now being carried on. The person submitting the best name is to receive a share of preferred stock in the corporation, with a bonus of one share of common.

Announcement also of the removal of the offices from Oshkosh to Stevens Point and the increased board of directors was made.

The full list of directors is to be made public within a few days.

OFFICERS LOCATE STILL IN ACTION

ALEX WESLOWSKI, 502 WISCONSIN STREET, DRAWS FINE AND JAIL SENTENCE AS A RESULT

RAIDERS DUMP OUT MASH

(From Wednesday's Daily)

OWNER ARRESTED DOWN TOWN AFTER OPERATIONS ARE SUSPENDED

Alex Weslowski, commonly known as "Buffalo Bill," started a moonshine still in operation Tuesday evening and came down town to pass the time away. While he was absent a raiding party headed by Sheriff John A. Berry and Chief of Police John S. Hofsoos visited his residence at 502 Wisconsin street and as a result of what they found Weslowski was arrested on a charge of manufacturing and having moonshine in his possession.

Weslowski, after spending the night in jail was arraigned before Judge W. F. Owen in county court this morning and pleaded guilty. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $100 and costs of $25 and to serve 30 days in the county jail. In case of failure to pay the fine and costs he will be confined to the county jail for an additional period not exceeding 60 days.

Still is Discovered

Sheriff Berry, Chief Hofsoos, Deputy Sheriff Manuel Berry and Patrolman John Frymark were in the raiding party that swooped down on the Weslowski home at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening. Weslowski was not at home and the warrant, which was issued on complaint of Chief Hofsoos, was read to his wife, who was in the house. While this was in progress Deputy Manuel Berry was making a search of the premises back of the house and he discovered the still in operation in a shed adjoining a chicken coop. The still was an old one, with four coils and an oil stove was burning underneath it. Nearby were two barrels of mash. The only liquor found was about a half pint in a glass into which it was dropping from the still.

Mash is Dumped

The still was confiscated and the mash dumped in the yard. The officers then went in search of Weslowski who was found by Officer Frymark down town and taken to the jail.

SEARCH 50 HOURS FOR THE REMAINS OF DROWNED BOY

(From Wednesday's Daily)

BODY OF RAYMOND SLUSARSKI FOUND LODGED ON BOTTOM OF MILL CREEK BY BARNEY GLAZA, A NEIGHBOR

After more than two days of searching, the body of Raymond Slusarski, nine-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Slusarski of the town of Carson was found in the swollen waters of Mill Creek at 5:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

The finding of the body ended an almost continual search of 50 hours, in which scores of neighbors, friends and sympathetic people from Stevens Point took part. The body was found about 60 rods down the stream from where the little boy was last seen.

He was drowned Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when he was carried off his feet in the swift, high water of the creek while in swimming. Search for the body was started immediately and was carried on until late that night. It was resumed early Monday morning and was continued until late Monday night without success. Early Tuesday morning it was again resumed, and the search came to an end when Barney Glaza, a neighbor, found the body lodged on the bottom of the creek. According to the lad's father it was not badly decomposed even after being in the water for a long time.

This circuit includes Stevens Point, Wisconsin Rapids, Amherst, Dale, Arpin, Manawa, Symco, Nekoosa and Almond. The following pastors, each accompanied by four laymen and headed by Rev. A. F. Breihan of Wausau, mission director, were in attendance: Rev. F. H. Kretzschmar of Wisconsin Rapids, Rev. W. List of Wood county, Rev. W. C. Meyer of Nekoosa, Rev. W Wurl of Arpin, Rev. August Miller of Dale Rev. M. A. Tress of Amherst and Rev. F. Forster of Almond.

Rev. Mr. Breihan, who presided, explained the budget of the North Wisconsin district at the morning session. The sum of $72,000 is needed for the budget for missions, or $2.40 for each communicant member. Twenty-six per cent of the total amount is to go into the general treasury of the Missouri Synod for building a new seminary at St. Louis which is to cost $1,500,000. Mr. Breihan asked the support of congregations in this project, and also in raising the remainder of the fund, which goes for mission work in this district. The speaker said that 114 candidates for the ministry had just been graduated from Concordia seminary in St. Louis, the present institution, and that they would be assigned to charges in almost all parts of the world.

Appeal for Ministers

The Ladies' Aid of the local church served a dinner to the guests at noon and at an afternoon session Rev Mr. Kretzschmar of Wisconsin Rapids was the principal speaker. He urged that families send their sons to college this fall to prepare for the ministry and made an appeal to others who have no sons to support the district treasury for poor students. Mr. Kretzschmar also submitted a report on the Walther convention held a few days ago in Wisconsin Rapids.

Rev. R Hadloff, pastor of St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church here arranged the details of the local gathering.

NEW LAW EASIER ON THE CANINES

License Fees Reduced and Six Months of Grace Given During the Change

Again the question of the canine population of the state and the enforcement of laws governing dogs has come to the fore in the enactment of a law reducing the license fee for such animals and including several provisions which are a vast improvement over the former statutes of this nature. Information on the new law is being sent out from Madison but to date no instructions have been received by City Clerk W. L. Bronson.

The new state law provides for the licensing of all dogs over six months of age. A fee of one dollar for each male and spayed female and two dollars for each female dog will be charged.

This new fee is a reduction of one dollar under the fee formerly charged.

The town, village or city treasurer issuing the license may retain the sum of 15 cents from each license fee as compensation.

Licenses Good Till 1922

The license year shall commence on the first day of January and end on the thirty-first day of the following December. The current license year shall expire December 31, 1921. Every owner of a dog for which a license is required shall make application for and obtain such license before the first of February each year.

Existing dog licenses which would have expired by their terms on June 30, 1921, are continued until January 1, 1922.

Instead of making the application for the license at the office of the city clerk the new law provides that all dogs be listed by the city assessor after diligent inquiry. Under penalty of law each person must answer all questions pertaining to keeping dogs.

The assessor will then prepare a list of the dogs in his district together with the number of kennels.

This list will be filed with the town, village or city treasurer.

The license fee must be applied for at the time of the tax payments each year.

To Pay Farmers' Damages

The police are given power to make a survey from time to time of the dogs in the municipality and all license fees and money collected in the enforcement of the dog law will be entered in the police pension fund.

Another feature which it is declared will meet with the approval of farmers is as follows:

The owner of any domestic animal, including poultry, which shall be chased, worried or killed by a dog if within 10 days, he makes written claim for damages with the clerk of the village, town or city, the common council, board of trustees or board of supervisors will call a session and will investigate the claim. Witness may be subpoenaed and oaths administered in the proceedings.

The claim following the investigation shall be laid before the county board the same to be acted upon by the board.

Eighty per cent of the estimated damage may be paid the complainant.

STILL IN HOSPITAL RECOVERY IS SLOW

Henry Akin Not Yet Out of Danger and Will Lose One Eye

Henry Akin, 24 year old painter whose skull was crushed in above the left eye when the truck in which he was riding upset and turned turtle three times on the Stockton road on Sunday, June 5, is still a patient at St Michael's hospital here.

Mr. Akin's mental condition is much better but his gain in strength is slow and he is not yet out of danger. In all probability it will be necessary to perform an operation when his physical condition is more favorable, for the removal of his left eye. Pieces of bone in his skull above the eye were found to be broken and removed by physicians the day of the accident, this affecting the member to such an extent that it cannot be saved.

Akin and two other young men were enroute to Waupaca when the truck in which they were riding left highway No 18 and crashed down an embankment. Jack Fox, the driver, was not seriously injured and Forest Larson jumped and was unharmed.

$4,000 DAMAGE DONE TO HOUSE BY NIGHT FIRE

Local Firemen Praised by Owner of Pray Home, Gutted by Blaze

Damage estimated at $4,000 was done early Sunday morning to the home of Rex A. Jacobson, 402 Pine street, better known as the "Pray house" when fire gutted the attic and roof of the big residence.

Neighbors and occupants of the home did not discover the fire until awakened by an explosion that blew out the windows in the attic. The cause of the fire and explosion is not known, although it is said by some that the fire was started by spontaneous combustion.

The explosion that awoke the occupants of the home and neighbors occurred about one o'clock Sunday morning. The residence is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Rex A. Jacobson and son Frank, an infant of 10 months, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Keapock and small child, and a number of roomers. Mr. Jacobson, who is a Soo line fireman, was out of the city on a run and Mrs. Keapock and little child were also gone.

Flames Spread Quickly

The fire seemingly spread to all portions of the attic at once and the second floor of the home was filled with smoke in a moment. Nathan Stansbury and Paul Weightman, roomers at the Jacobson home, were asleep and in bed when the explosion occurred. Weighman was awakened, and as he jumped out of bed he dragged Stansbury out of his bed, just opposite. Awakened from a sound sleep, Stansbury was in a stupor, and Weightman was forced to carry him out of the room and into a hall before he awoke and was able to walk out.

Other occupants of the home left in short order, and neighbors soon arrived on the scene and assisted in taking out the furniture and valuables which were later removed to neighboring garages and sheds. The furniture is but slightly damaged, it is said.

Storm Windows Destroyed

When the explosion occurred, the windows in the attic were blown out, and small articles lying on the floor went out through the broken glass. The fire spread to all portions of the big attic, the rafters and floor suffering equal damage. Many storm windows, lying on the floor of the attic were broken and destroyed, boxes of winter bedding and winter clothing were badly damaged. Other articles of small value were also burned and destroyed.

The home was damaged beyond repair down to the ceiling of the second floor. Every inch of plaster in the home will have to be replaced, the huge quantity of water necessarily thrown by the firemen soaking through the entire house. The loss is covered by insurance. Mr. Jacobson had just completed extensive renovations.

Praises Firemen

Stevens Point's fire department was praised by Mr. Jacobson to the Journal Monday. "The firemen gave us excellent service," he declared. "The fire alarm was turned in by Guy Morrill, and before he left his house and got over to mine, which is only next door, the firemen were on the job, and were already throwing water. They were on the job until every spark was drowned with water, and didn't leave until 3 o'clock."

Mr. and Mrs. Jacobson and baby were taken into the Morrill home at Pine and Division streets Sunday morning, and are living there until they can make other arrangements.

President Sims emphatically denied a report that the Normal enrollment was so large that students are being turned away. "We are taking all who wish to attend the session and places for all who have enrolled have been provided either in private homes or at the dormitory," he said.

'LAST WAR ONLY THE START' SAYS JOHN E. MORAN

Special Attache of State Department Visits Relatives in City

"The last war was only the start," declared John E. Moran, a special attache of the state department of the United States government, this morning to a Journal reporter, in speaking about conditions in Europe. "Germany, although she knows she was 'licked' by the French hates the French with a hate that I can't express, and as soon as the backs of England and the United States are turned, Germany will 'get' France just as she has said she will.

"The Germans are acting like sulky babies. They have been defeated, and know it, and now are sitting back and doing nothing. The men have congregated in the large cities, left their farms and now prefer to starve on the pensions they receive from army service, rather than have plenty and work. I left Berlin at noon on my way through to Cologne, which is near Belgium, and during the entire afternoon, I saw but one man working in the fields. The cities were crowded."

Mr. Moran left the United States in 1916 as a special attache of the state department. He went to Berne, the capital of Switzerland, where, from January, 1917, to 1919 he was in charge of the entire personnel of the legation, which is the United States' largest diplomatic bureau in Europe.

In Midst of Spies

Berne, during the war, was said to be the "listening post of Europe," as it was filled with diplomatic representatives of every country. Switzerland was neutral during the war, and the center of the German spy system was locted there, branches, like the web of a spider, leading out in all directions. The American legation was consequently very closely watched.

During the war, all diplomatic relations carried on by the United States with European countries through Berne, to the foreign offices of the various European countries. When the peace conference was being carried on at Versailles, Mr. Moran made trips practically every week on confidential business connected with his department.

Transferred to Berlin

Just before the armistice was signed he was transferred to the office of the American commission at Berlin. Being closely connected with affairs in Germany Mr. Moran is well acquainted with conditions in that country at the present time. He was in Berlin at the time of the communistic outbreaks there.

"Just before we left Germany," he said, "the communists and bolshevists who were attempting to blow up every government building in Berlin, destroyed a bridge not a stone's throw from where we were residing.

Reds Minor Factor

"Contrary to common opinion here, the bolshevists of Germany have little power. I would say that only two out of 200 in the reichstag in Germany are members of the extreme left, or communist party. They have no chance of combining with any of the other parties in the reichstag, and so have little national power.

"The central party is really the only saving feature of German politics at present. Germany is saved from militarism and bolshevism only by this party, which holds the balance of power. The parties of the extreme right, which are the militarist and monarchial parties, and the parties of the extreme left, or bolshevistic and communistic parties, cannot agree on any measures, while the central party is a check for both. It has been said that if the central party only holds its head, Germany will be saved."

Glad to Be Back

"I am mighty glad to get back to America, where we are not on food rations. You people are on easy street. During the entire time I didn't get any milk, except for a comparatively short period when I was ill. Only the very old, the very young and the sick, in special cases, are allowed milk, and what milk is given out is blue, watery, and not at all like the milk we have here."

Married Overseas

Mr. Moran was married on July 14, 1920, in Berlin, Germany, to Miss Myrtle Johnston, who was then attached to the American commission. She had been with the American legation at Berne. Both Mr. Moran and his wife are here now, guests at the home of B. P. Moran, 940 Normal avenue, Mr. Moran's brother. They will remain here only a few days, when they will return to Washington, Mr. Moran's leave expiring July 1.

CHILDREN OF SLUMS TO VISIT WISCONSIN

Fifty boys and girls from Milwaukee and Chicago will be placed in Rhinelander homes during the summer months. The children range in age from six to 14 years and will arrive in Rhinelander July 6. They come from homes where the housing conditions are crowded and where there is no place to play but in the streets. Most of them are underweight because of poor food, lack of sunshine and fresh air.

HIGHWAY MAP ISSUED

Service Inaugurated by Commission to Aid Tourists

Through a unique service inaugurated by the Wisconsin Highway commission, autoists need no longer cope with the uncertainty of road conditions when planning tours. Each week the commission will issue a new blueprint map on which the status of every state trunk highway will be shown. The map will indicate what roads are under construction, all detours, roads not in use, and shows the type of surfacing of every stretch of highway. The first of these maps are now being mailed out from Madison.

Shading and cross lines show at a glance whether a road is surfaced with concrete, or whether sandy, of sand, clay or loam, or of heavy clay. Cities having tourist campsites are marked with a star. Division Engineer offices are indicated by a white circle.

There is hardly a county where there is no construction work indicated on some of its highways, the map shows. Some of these roads are open to traffic, marks on the chart showing the condition of the highway. Detours also are frequent.

KERKOWSKI IS FREED FOLLOWING A TRIAL

Amherst Business Man Found Not Guilty of Selling Meat Unfit for Use

Joe Kerkowski, Amherst meat market proprietor, was adjudged not guilty, following a trial in county court here Friday afternoon, of selling meat unfit for human consumption, as charged by A. Brackett, Amherst hotel man.

Bracket alleged, in his complaint, that on May 27 he purchased seven pounds of pork from Kerkowski which he found unfit for use. He returned the meat after showing it to his wife and two dining room girls, Gladys Matson and Dorothy Schultz. Mr. and Mrs. Brackett, the Misses Matson and Schultz and Isabel Mahanna were called as witnesses by the state. Miss Mahanna was in the Kerkowski market when Brackett returned the meat and testified to what was said then.

Kerkowski testified that he had, subsequent to the controversy with Brackett, sold the identical piece of meat, as well as other meat from the same carcass, without receiving a complaint. He said the hog was killed in the evening of May 27 and early the following morning was hung up in the refrigerator at the market, where it remained until Wednesday, when it was taken out to be sold. Witnesses called by the defense included Lucien Belfiki, the farmer from whom Kerkowski bought the hog in question; Frank Hjertberg and Ed Perkins, who, Kerkowski said, had some of the meat from the hog and Will Skider, an employe at the market.

At the conclusion of the trial the defendant was discharged.

A number of local families motored to Sunset lake in the town of New Hope on Sunday, the beauty spot selected for the summer camp of Stevens Point Boy Scouts. Work is already under way preparatory to the opening of the camp in July. A dock has been partially constructed at the water's edge and the building of a mess hall started on the top of a hill overlooking the lake.

Sunday's Games

Stevens Point 8, Mosinee 2.
Marshfield 5, Schofield 3.
Tomahawk 4, Medford 2.
Merrill 9, Stratford 0.

Stevens Point moved up into undisputed possession of the second bench in the Wisconsin Valley league Sunday by beating Mosinee, heretofore tied for second with the Point, by the score of 8 to 2.

The contest was a tight affair from start to finish, and was played before an estimated crowd of 2,000 people, said to be the largest ever witnessing a game of baseball in Stevens Point. The grandstand was packed from end to end, and a line of cars extended clear around the diamond. The bleachers along the first base line were also packed.

Normoyle Saves Game

"Tommy" Normoyle captain and third sacker of the Stevens Point nine, put in an afternoon of hard work. He saved the game for Stevens Point in the fourth, when the locals were leading 3 to 2, and Mosinee had the sacks filled with no hands out. Schultz of the Pointers added to the excitement by "Baberuthing" in the sixth inning.

A. Fahrner and L. Fahrner had been safe on a hit and walk, respectively. Brennan advanced them with a hit. The sacks were loaded and none were out. Mosinee's followers prayed for a home run. Gardner, next up, hit a hot one down the third base line. "Tommy" made a quick stop of the grounder, and lined it home to Brady, forcing A. Fahrner out by a narrow margin. Roberts tried to bring the three Mosinee men, who were parked on the sacks, home with another hot one, but unfortunately lined it to the redoubtable "Tommy" who had an easy force-out of L. Fahrner at the plate. The side was retired when Wloszynski caught Stokes' weak fly.

Get Two in First

Stevens Point fans thought Mosinee had the game bottled up at the end of the first inning, after the pepperpoters had brought in two runs. A. Fahrner was safe on the sacks with a hit. Then Brother L. walked up to the plotter, biffed on one of Wloszynski's offerings with a keen eye and slapped the ball away out into right field, getting three sacks on it. He brought Mosinee's second run in when Brady allowed one of Wloszynski's hot ones to pass him.

Everybody but Brady got a chance at bat in Stevens Point's half of the third. Bunt Wloszynski rapped out a two bagger. Schultz flied out to Durkee. McKeague stepped in the way of one of Wheeler's offerings and limped to first. Wallace got a walk, and there were three on, with only one out. Groh made the second out when Stokes stopped a grounder and caught him off first, Wloszynski stealing home, however. Normoyle did the heroic act with a hot swat, bringing in the two runs that gave Stevens Point the lead.

Mosinee Quiet After Fourth

After the fourth, when Normoyle caught the Fahrner brothers at the plotter, Mosinee didn't do anything that was really exciting. Wloszynski allowed the visitors but seven hits throughout the contest and he kept those well scattered. Wheeler lined one of his offerings so swiftly down the first base line that McKeague couldn't stop it, and it went under the cars past left field, Wheeler making a three bagger out of it.

Schultz got his home run in the sixth, making one of the four tallies the Point secured that inning, besides bringing in Gustin and Wloszynski. Schultz's homer was a dandy hit, but if there hadn't been a big crowd out it wouldn't have been a homer. Twas a long, low fly, a perfect hit, and the ball went beneath the line of cars far out in left field. Schultz is a fast man on his feet and he made the circuit in double quick time.

Snow and Gustin Good

Snow and Gustin, the two new additions to the Stevens Point line-up, played up to the high standard set by the locals. Snow played center field, but didn't get a chance to show fielding ability. He backed up Groh and Gustin at second and short respectively, and was a fast man on the sacks.

Gustin, the short stop, did some fine work. He made a dandy stop of a Texas leaguer, and although the umps called his man safe at first after he had made a quick recovery and relay, there were many fans who disagreed with the decision.

No Crabbing

There was no crabbing with the umpire, something unusual in a game with Mosinee, considering the affair on the diamond here last year. Dudley and Jones, who run the contest, wouldn't stand for any talk along the sidelines.

BANCROFT BEATS SOOS

Local Baseball Players Lose to Village Nine by 15 to 7 Score

The Soo line Carmen lost to the Bancroft village nine at Bancroft Sunday afternoon, 15 to 7. Errors by Gunsell and Koltz aided Bancroft.

Bancroft got but one hit off Koltz in the remaining six innings, only one man reaching first. The Carmen were unable, however, to overcome the big lead.

WOMAN DRAWS TERM IN JAIL AND $100 FINE

Mrs. Frances Golton Convicted On Moonshine Charge—Husband Freed

Five days in the county jail, a fine of $100 and costs of $70.74 was the punishment meted out by County Judge W. F. Owen Wednesday afternoon to Mrs. Frances Golton, charged with possessing and trafficking in intoxicating liquor. Her husband, Joseph Golton, tried on a similar charge, was held not guilty and was discharged.

The Golton home on Fifth avenue, city, was searched last Saturday night by a party headed by Sheriff John A. Berry and Chief of Police John S. Hofsoos. A jug and pitcher alleged to contain moonshine were found in the house, and Professor G. E. Culver of the State Normal school testified in the trial on Wednesday that the liquor in the pitcher contained 47 per cent alcohol.

Husband on Stand

Joseph Golton took the stand in his own defense and testified that he was not aware that there was moonshine in his house or that it was being sold. It is understood he was away from home for two weeks prior to the time of the raid.

Mrs. Golton presented no evidence in her defense. Two boys, one 15 and one 14, testified that they had procured liquor from her. It is said that Mrs. Golton made the statement to one of the officers in the raiding party that she sold moonshine to make a living.

Woman Weeps

Mrs. Golton wept when sentence was pronounced and it was with difficulty that she was removed to the jail. If she does not pay the fine and costs she will be compelled to serve an additional period not to exceed 86 days, in jail.

JOHN MORAN LEAVES

Member of Foreign Service May Go To New Zealand

Mr. and Mrs. John Moran, who were guests at the home of the former's brother, B. P. Moran, 940 Normal avenue, over the week-end, left Monday for Chicago on their way to Washington.

Mr. Moran is in the foreign service of the state department of the United States government, and is on leave until July 1, when he must report.

Although he does not know definitely just where he will go after July 1, Mr. Moran has hopes of going to New Zealand for the state department. "I feel that I have been where food is rationed out long enough, and would like to go to some country where things are different," he said.

ROSHOLT BUTTER BRINGS HIGH PRICE

Creamery Enters Into Contract to Dispose of Its Entire Output

"The Rosholt Creamery company has long enjoyed the reputation of being a producer of high grade butter, but few of the local people have realized just how big a reputation it has made for itself or what a large demand there is fore Rosholt butter," says the Rosholt Review.

"Last week the company closed a deal with a big firm of buyers whereby it can dispose of its entire output at a price considerably above the Chicago market. Besides paying this high price the buyers furnish all wrappers and boxes free and pay the freight on the butter. This will lower the expense of operating the creamery and relieve it of all responsibility after the butter is loaded on the train here."

WILL TAKE POLISH CENSUS IN AUTUMN

The first complete general census of Poland as a reunited nation will be taken during the last week in September of the present year. The administrative commission under the presidency of Rev. Sobolewski, a member of the diet, has been authorized by the diet to carry out the undertaking. Since the partitions, 130 years ago, there has been no accurate census of Poland, the partitioning powers never having taken the census simultaneously. During the period of foreign control it was also to the interest of the Russian, German and Austrian governments to minimize the number of Poles, and this led to a not uncommon practice of juggling with the figures on nationality.

TOURISTS ENROUTE TO LAKE COUNTRY

Steady Stream of Motorists a Reminder that Vacation Days are Here

Tourists are passing through Stevens Point daily in increasing numbers, a large majority of them heading for the northern lakes country. A big majority are carrying their camping equipment, stopping at night to pitch tents either in the woods or at city camp sites.

A dozen motoring parties passed Stevens Point Sunday morning within a period of 30 minutes and many passed through the city at intervals during the day. The overland tourist by motor was observed again early this morning. The summer vacation period, while hardly under way in this part of Wisconsin, apparently is in full swing in Illinois and other states to the south if the number of tourists can be used as a criterion. The camp site established at the fair grounds by the Chamber of Commerce is proving a popular stopping place for the visitors. More than a half dozen families made this city their headquarters over the week-end, among them being cars from Iowa and Nevada. From an observation of the cars going through the city a larger number of families than ever before are traveling with full equipment for camping.

HERE IS THE BAIT TO POISON THE HOPPERS

The grasshoppers are on the job this year.

They destroy annually thousands of dollars worth of Wisconsin corn, hay, oats, rye, peas, and potatoes. A good bait is the best method of control says O. L. Fluke, of the Wisconsin entomology department of the university of Wisconsin. The cost of the measures should not cost more than 50 cents an acre.

The bait the Fluke states is made of:

Bran ..... 25 pounds or bran mixture (one-half bran, one-half sawdust)
White arsenic or paris green 1 pound
Salt ..... 1 pound
Banana oil ..... 12 teaspoonfuls or 6 whole orange (ground in meat chopper). Amyl acetate or banana oil may be obtained at any drug store.
Water ..... 10 quarts

Some precautions suggested by Fluke include:

1. Measure the amounts carefully do not guess.
2. Mix the materials thoroughly.
3. Add enough water to make a mash crumbly but not sloppy.
4. Apply the bait early in the morning or late in the evening.
5. Scatter broadcast, not in piles.
6. Use only about 5 to 7 pounds to the acre. Scatter the most where grasshoppers are thickest.
7. Before applying the poison, keep it away from children, stock, chickens.
8. Wash out carefully all utensils used in mixing the bait; do not let the calf lick them out.

SURPRISE FRIENDS BY GETTING MARRIED

Ruth Sherman Becomes Bride of Raymond Pett At Groom's Home

Miss Ruth Sherman and Raymond Pett stole a march on their friends Saturday evening by getting married at the Pett residence at 918 Main street. Plans were so carefully laid that the secret did not leak out until next day after they had left the city on a short wedding trip.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles Sumner Pier, pastor of the Presbyterian church, and the witnesses were Mr. and Mrs. James W. Hull, grandparents of the groom. The parents of the couple were the only others present. The bride wore a gown of gray silk with a corsage bouquet of pink roses. The home was prettily decorated with flowers for the occasion and immediately following the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served.

The bride and groom left by motor early Sunday morning for Wood Lake, near Liberty Bluff on the Portage branch of the Soo, where they remained until Tuesday afternoon. They were joined on Monday by the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sherman and the groom's mother, Mrs. W. B. Pett, Mr. Pett also going down Tuesday.

The newly married couple will occupy the residence at 710 Church street. Mrs. Pett, who is one of the city's well known young ladies, formerly attended the High school and has always been at home with her parents. Mr. Pett, who attended the State Normal and later graduated from the Stevens Point Business College, is bookkeeper in the office of the Northern Motor & Supply company.

LOCAL BOY SCOUTS POLICE CAMP SITE

Their Services to be at the Disposal of Tourists During the Summer

Stevens Point Boy Scouts today took over the duties of policing the fair grounds where the auto camp site of the Chamber of Commerce is located, and their services during each day will be at the disposal of tourists stopping there.

Scouts in uniform only or those who have reached the tenderfoot class will be in charge. There will be three boys in each detail and three details on duty each day, each scout having two hours on duty and four hours off.

Several fireplaces for the convenience of tourists will also be built at once by the scouts and an additional duty assigned to them is to distribute the red tags of the Chamber of Commerce which call attention to the city's parking ordinance and also extend a welcome to visitors. Many boys have been signed up for policing duties, which are to be continued during each day all summer. Information wanted by tourists which cannot be supplied by the scouts may be had by 'phoning the scout headquarters.

ELKS AT ROTHSCHILD

More Than Two Thousand People Attend Big Reunion Sunday

Elks and their families went in droves to the pavilion at Rothschild Sunday to attend the Elks' reunion, held under the auspices of the Wausau lodge. More than 2,000 people attended the big event, representing Wausau Stevens Point, Wisconsin Rapids, Merrill, Antigo and Chippewa Falls. The Chippewa Falls delegation numbering about 30 were in uniforms of purple and white, the Elks' colors, and boosted for the Elks' celebration to be held in Chippewa Falls early in July.

Stevens Point did not win the silver loving cup in the indoor baseball tournament, played out of doors. Stevens Point, presenting a patched up lineup, lost to Wisconsin Rapids, 18 to 2 in the forenoon. Antigo defeated Merrill in the forenoon and in the final won over Wisconsin Rapids 10 to 5, thus winning the cup.

There were many other entertainment features including athletic events of various kinds, dancing in the afternoon and evening and a concert by the 128th Infantry band. Meals and refreshments were served throughout the day.

Stevens Point Elks who attended the reunion give the Wausau Elks credit for a big undertaking well done.

MRS. SPINDLER CANDIDATE FOR SCHOOL BOARD

Women of Third Ward to Support Her at Election on July 5

For the first time in many years a woman has been placed in the field as a candidate for membership on the Stevens Point board of education. She is Mrs. F. N. Spindler, 1215 Clark street, and has been chosen by the women of the Third ward to make the run.

The election takes place on the evening of July 5. There will be one vacancy to fill from the Third ward on that date. J. J. Normington, whose term expires, announced last week that he will not be a candidate for reelection. The term of Prof. James E. Delzell, the other Third ward representative, does not expire for another year.

Given Strong Backing

Mrs. Spindler is the only announced candidate for the office in her ward to date. She has received the unanimous indorsement of the women of that ward, the Parent Teacher association of the Garfield school and representatives of the League of Women Voters, the Woman's club and similar organizations. A contest is not looked for but if the women are confronted with competition it is understood that they are prepared to wage a hot campaign in the interests of their candidate.

In selecting Mrs. Spindler as their candidate the women point out that she was a teacher prior to her marriage and that she has been interested in schools and educational work for many years. Her husband, Prof. F. N. Spindler, is vice-president of the State Normal school. The women of the Third believe the time has come when they should have representation on the school board.

Statement by Candidate

Interviewed regarding her candidacy for the office, Mrs. Spindler made the following statement to the Journal:

"A committee of women waited upon me and asked me to become their candidate for the office, which I agreed to do. The idea of a woman or women serving on a board of education is not objectionable to me. I believe every school board should have a woman or women on it because their point of view should be of value to the other members. She is able to offer experience which she has gained in her own home as she has had to deal with children in her own profession. I believe that a board of education is improved by adding a woman or women to its membership."

NO HOME BREW SENATE RULES

Refuses to Take Amendment Governor Wants and Which Assembly Accepts

Madison, June 21.—The senate today killed the home brew provisions of the Blaine dry enforcement bill by a vote of 17 to 8.

The senate and assembly are now deadlocked on the prohibition enforcement question and a committee on conferences to iron out differences is to be selected.

ARMORY PLANS TO BE REVISED TO REDUCE COST

Board of Public Works Rejects Bids But Will Try Again

All bids submitted for the erection at the fair grounds of the armory-sales pavilion-cattle exhibition barn, for which the common council recently authorized a bond issue of $25,000, were rejected by the board of public works at a meeting Wednesday evening. At the same time the board announced that the project will not be abandoned, but that changes in the plans and specifications, designed to reduce the cost, will be made and bids readvertised for.

Henry C. Hengels, major in the quartermaster corps, Wisconsin National Guard and state military architect and engineer, who drew up the plans and specifications for the proposed building, was present at the meeting and read the bids. Major Hengels informed the contractors present that no time will be lost in making changes in the plans and specifications.

Proposed Changes

The following changes probably will be made:

Eliminate glazed hollow tile from walls and substitute white lime sand mold brick, with red brick trimmings.

Omit the gun shed and use the cattle shed for the storage of field equipment materiel.

Substitute a four-inch Tarvia floor for concrete in the cattle barn.

Eliminate steam heat and substitute stoves and furnaces.

Omit fireplace from battery quarters.

Simplify the plumbing.

Omit the public comfort stations if the cost is prohibitive.

Can Reduce Cost

"I am confident," Major Hengels told the Journal, "that we can revise the plans to meet the financial limitations, without detracting in any way from the usefulness of the building. By eliminating the gun shed we can save about $5,000 in the cost. Instead of the proposed gun shed we can use the cattle barn 361 days in the year for the storage of meteriel, which will be federal property, consisting of four 75MM. guns, caissons, transport wagons, etc., worth $215,000. There will be 32 horses to be stabled, also federal property."

The building, as originally planned, consisted of an hexagonal sales pavilion and stock arena, with four wings, one for battery quarters, one to be used as a cattle barn, one for use as a cavalry stable and a smaller one to be occupied by two public comfort stations. The gun shed and a small blacksmith shop were to be erected back of the main building. Under action of the Park commission, the new building will occupy the site of the present exposition building at the fair grounds, facing to the west toward Michigan avenue. The exposition building will be moved.

BRAKEMAN ON SOO KILLED AT RUGBY

Lyman J. Parish, Father of Eight Children, Crushed Under Freight Train

Lyman J. Parish, Soo brakeman residing at Fond du Lac, married and the father of eight children, was crushed to death at Rugby Junction at 11 o'clock Wednesday evening when he endeavored to "cut" a string of freight cars on the Soo Line preparatory to making a switch.

Parish was braking on Soo Line freight train No. 25 which was bound for Fond du Lac from Milwaukee. The train, in charge of Conductor Ted Thompson, left Milwaukee at 9:30 Wednesday night and arrived at the junction about 11 o'clock. This run was made over the C. M. & St. P. tracks.

Arriving at Rugby junction the train crew had a few cars to "set out" for the St. Paul road after which it was decided to "bunch" the Fond du Lac merchandise cars at the head end of the train for a quick "drop" when the trained arrived in that city.

While the process of getting the Fond du Lac cars in a group was taking place, a switch had to be made. Parish, who was breaking on the rear end of the train was between the cars and had pulled the coupling pin and was reaching over on the other side of the coupler to shut off an angle cock when he stumbled and fell beneath the cars.

His body was mangled and death was instantaneous.

The train crew notified headquarters at North Fond du Lac of the accident and the body was put aboard the Minneapolis train No. 1. The body arrived in Fond du Lac at 6:30 Thursday morning and was taken to the Zacherl undertaking parlors.

Was Old Employe

Lyman Parish, according to the railroad authorities at division headquarters at North Fond du Lac, entered the service of the Soo Line March 2, 1910, as a brakeman and had successfully passed his tests for conductor last year. He had taken out extra runs and was considered a very careful employe.

He was born at Peshtigo, Wis., 36 years ago and went to Fond du Lac when he entered the service of the Soo line in 1910.

He is the father of eight children who are Frank, Merton, Margaret, Leona, Marie, Loraine, Pearl and Virginia.

Besides his children he leaves his widow, Mrs. Luella Parish, his mother, who is Mrs. Lucy Parish, of Fond du Lac, three sisters and three brothers who are Mrs. Henry Ruckamp of Houghton, Mich., Mrs. William Hart of Chicago and Mrs. N. Baule of Fond du Lac, A. Parish of Marinette, Frank and Lorenzo Parish of Fond du Lac.

Mr. Parish was a member of the O. R. C., the Eagles and the B. of R. T.

PORTAGE COUNTY CATTLE IN DEMAND

Four Cars are Shipped to New York State By Dealer at Amherst

Portage county is rapidly becoming widely known as the place where good dairy cows are raised, and the demand for stock from this section is becoming more and more pronounced," says the Amherst Advocate. "The splendid herds of grade Holstein and Guernsey cows in the county, and the fine pure breds are making the county famous as a dairy section, and dairymen from other states are purchasing Portage county cows for their herds.

"This is proven by the fact that within the past two weeks, John Keener of this village has loaded four cars of grade Guernsey and Holstein cattle, which he purchased in this vicinity, and shipped to New York state where they were sold to dairymen.

"The four cars contained 97 splendid grades and were all purchased by Mr. Keener in this vicinity.

"Before shipping the cows, Mr. Keener had them housed at the fair grounds barns where they were tested for tuberculosis and the animals were found to be in perfect condition."

JERSEY PICNIC AT TOBIE GROVE A BIG SUCCESS

Stock Judging Contest Held in Afternoon, Followed By Program

The first annual picnic of the Portage County Jersey Breeders' association, held at the grove of the president, E. P. Tobie, just east of Amherst Junction Thursday, was a very successful gathering and brought out a crowd of nearly two hundred people. Many of those who came early brought lunches with them, coffee and Jersey cream being furnished by the association.

The afternoon's program opened with a stock judging contest, when fine animals from Mr. Tobie's herd of fourteen thoroughbred Jerseys were critically inspected by the gathering. Place cards were distributed and filled out by all who desired to do so. When these cards had been gathered up, A. J. Peterson of Elderon was called upon in his capacity as an expert Jersey breeder and placed the relative stand of five head as follows:

First—Models Pioneer Maid.
Second—J. & L.'s Beauty 2d.
Third—King & Maid's Beauty.
Fourth—J. & L.'s Beauty.
Fifth—Wis. Belle's Ruby.

Although none who made markings agreed exactly with Mr. Peterson, several selected the winners of first and second places.

Program Rendered

At the close of the judging contest a program of music and talks was given from an especially erected platform. President Tobie was suffering from a combination of toothache and earache and asked County Agent W. W. Clark to preside, which he did in his usually efficient manner, making an address full of worth while thoughts and giving much information on the value of raising thoroughbred stock. Recent sales of Jersey herds in the east brought average prices as high as $1,800 per head, while the record price of $18,000 was paid for a Jersey cow.

Rev. C. E. Coon, pastor of the Methodist congregations at Waupaca and Amherst, and a real live wire, entertained the audience with several well rendered solos and also gave a talk which was full of wit and wisdom.

Mrs. Worden of Amherst, who possesses a very pleasing voice, did her full share in entertaining the gathering.

Says Jerseys Best

The closing address was given by Mr. Peterson, who gave reasons for his preference for the Jersey breed of cattle, whose history he traced in a very interesting manner.

Nearly all present drove to the Amherst fair grounds and witnessed a game of baseball between Almond and Plover. The Almond team won by an 8 to 2 score.

SOYBEAN COUNTY

Every Farm in Adams Intends to Have Them This Year

Soybeans on every farm in Adams county.

That is the goal Adams county farmers have set for themselves and they are laying their plans to reach it in record time.

Already many of the farmers of the county have made permanent partnerships with the soybean family and many new converts to the soybean cult are continually being received.

There will be around 300 soybean demonstrations in the county this year. These will show the adaptability of the various varieties for hay, for seed, for green manure, for "hogging down" and for silage, the value of inoculation and the relative advantage of the different methods of handling the crop. The Ito San and the Black Eyebrow are the two varieties which to date are most popular in the country.

County Agent E. V. Ryall has located a soy bean demonstration plot in every township in the county. In each of these as many as nine varieties are being grown. The soils in these various districts range from the lightest or blow sands and the rawest of peats to silts, clays, and loams.

The school officers of the county are co-operating fully in demonstrating the value of soybeans to the county. Thirty-three boys and girls from various parts of the county have already enrolled in soybean production and are introducing soybeans into their respective districts where they have not been previously raised. It is planned that in a very few years soybeans will be raised upon every Adams county farm.

$100,000 JOB LET BY COUNCIL MONDAY EVENING

tion on Grand boulevard in 1912 without maintenance expense to date. We have received bids on 75,000 yards of this construction Texaco $1.15; Trinidad $1.31. Kindly wire at my expense your experience with Texaco. Do you consider Trinidad worth more than Texaco?"

Gets Chicago's O. K.

"The reply, received this afternoon, follows:

"'Your message my absence prevented earlier reply. Texaco asphaltic concrete on Grand boulevard as staied in your message, amount 20,000 square yards, giving excellent satisfaction. No maintenance cost. Also have other Texaco pavement equally good. Consider Texaco asphalt equal to any other asphalt on the market.'"

Judgment of Board

"Our report covers our judgment," said City Attorney W. E. Atwell, chairman of the board of public works. "We put the matter up to Reichardt point blank as to whether natural asphalt was worth more than oil asphalt. His reply was that the specifications showed that they were both in the same class, that one was as good as another. Reichardt would make no direct recommendation, but it was plain to be seen where he stood. I can only say again that our report reflects our judgment."

The question of quotations made for excavating was raised by E. J. Pfiffner, who said he wanted to know just what was meant by it. Several of the aldermen, Mayor Welsby and City Attorney Atwell entered into the discussion of this point, which was finally cleared up by Mr. Atwell, who said that it was clearly covered in the specifications and that there would be no chance to "put anything over" on the city. It was pointed out that there will be considerable excavating on Clark street, where the Wisconsin Valley Electric company dug up the street for its gas main, but that the cost of putting this in shape will be borne by the Electric company, which so understands it. There may be other places, especially where plumbers have opened up the streets and failed to restore it to good condition, where excavating will have to be done, but Mayor Welsby said the cost of this would be charged to the plumbers.

Fisher Counsels Caution

W. E. Fisher appeared before the council to urge caution in choosing the type of construction. He referred to a letter received from Walter S. Cate of Ashland, in which the latter praised the bitulithic pavement Ashland put in five years ago. "The situation at Ashland then was about the same as the situation in Stevens Point today, and I think Ashland had the same engineer, Mr. Fisher said. "Ashland people decided not to take the engineer's word for it that asphalt was as good as bitulithic and after an investigation decided on bitulithic. About the same time the city of Washburn put in some asphaltic concrete and I am informed that a comparison of the two types of construction is sufficient proof of the fact that bitulithic is far superior. I don't want to throw away money any more than the rest of you. All I want to know is that the pavement we put down will wear, that we won't have to put in new pavement in five or 10 years. I don't believe, however, that pavement at $1.15 can be as good as pavement at $1.99 and no engineer could make me believe it. I suggest that the council adjourn and all or some of its members go to Ashland and Washburn to inspect the two types of pavement. I for one would be willing to pay the expenses of one man to make the trip. It seems too good to be true that a pavement at $1.15 can be as good as one at $1.99, as some would have us believe."

Mr. Fisher later took the floor to explain to the council that if in his talk he appeared to be boosting bitulithic, he did not mean to be so understood. "All I wanted was for the council to be better informed," he said. "This is the largest contract a Stevens Point council has ever let. We are making history. I don't believe in taking an engineer's recommendation at 100 per cent, even though he may be right."

Alderman C. A. Schenk said that the Normal avenue pavement laid six years ago was in excellent condition and, in his judgment, constituted sufficient argument in favor of Texaco. Alderman McDonald said he thought Mr. Fisher's proposition deserved consideration. Alderman A. H. Redfield presented a motion to adjourn to give time for further investigation and this motion was seconded by Alderman B. R. Finch. "Why wait?" asked Alderman Cassidy. "Haven't we an engineer whose advice is worth something?"

Motion is Defeated

The motion to adjourn was finally put to a vote and was defeated 7 to 5. Aldermen Dunnebacker, Finch, Holmes, King and Redfield voted for adjournment. Alderman McDonald in voting "no" said he did so because of the fact that he understood that but one bidder was permitted to quote on bitulithic.

The resolution to authorize the board of public works to enter into a contract with the Rasmussen company, introduced by Alderman Cassidy, was next read. Alderman Schoettel said he thought the council ought to get more information on the question of asphalt. "Isn't Normal avenue enough argument for Texaco?" asked Alderman Cassidy. Alderman Redfield agreed with Alderman Schoettel and for a time it seemed that the council might vote to give the Rasmussen company the contract subject to a decision later as to the kind of construction. City Attorney Atwell and Mayor Welsby said that such action would delay matters 15 days or more.

"What did we hire an engineer for?" asked E. J. Pfiffner. "We ought to put some stock in what he says." "You took the words out of my mouth," remarked Alderman Schenk, addressing Mr. Pfiffner. "I am satisfied with Texaco so far as I am concerned, but I wanted to make sure the general public is," said Alderman Schoettel. "Mr Pfiffner was one of those who thought we ought to go slow, so if he's satisfied I am."

Reichardt's Stand

"If Reichardt will come before this council and say that in his judgment Texaco is as good as any other asphalt I'll vote for Texaco" said Alderman McDonald.

"I've got that in writing," was Mayor Welsby's reply. The mayor then produced a letter from Mr. Reichardt, extracts from which follow:

"Relative to the type of asphalt or brand, that is up to the council and board. My specifications are open and of course I consider one as good as the other.

"Yesterday I had the pleasure of riding from Fond du Lac to Watertown with Professor L. S. Smith, professor of highway engineering at Madison, and I told him of our bids. He said he would not give one cent more for Trinidad than Texaco, in fact he would prefer Texaco. He is one of the best authorities in the University, so you can take it for what it is worth. You see others take the same stand as I do. However, it is up to the board and council and I do not care to promote any brand.

Abell Is Caustic

Taking the floor again, Mr. Abell of the Barber Asphalt company said:

"L. S. Smith seems to be a 'buddie' of Reichardt's. When Reichardt doesn't want to take a stand, he 'passes the buck' to Smith. Smith is a book professor and has never laid a yard of pavement in his life." He also intimated that Professor Smith is in the employ of the oil interests which are producing asphalt of the type of Texaco. Before taking his seat Mr. Abell submitted a collection of photographs intended to show the merits of Trinidad and the shortcomings of Texaco.

Gallagher Stirred Up

Mr. Gallagher of the Texas company was on his feet in an instant. "I can furnish plenty of pictures to show up Trinidad," he declared. "I did not think, however, that Mr. Abell would stoop to mud slinging or I would have been prepared. Pictures, with their impressionable effect, mean nothing. There have been failures with Texaco, I will admit, but they have been failures because of poor construction. There are just as many failures of Trinidad and with every other type of construction. I thought Mr. Abell was a better sport than he has turned out to be and I'm glad to find him out. Why should the city of Stevens Point pay tribute to a foreign crown for imported asphalt? Furthermore I feel that Mr. Abell has laid himself open to an action for slander by his remarks about Mr. Smith."

Abell Backs Up

Just before the meeting closed, and after the paving question had been settled, Mr. Abell took the floor again to retract anything he had said reflecting on the character of Mr. Smith. "If I said Mr. Smith was in the employ of oil interests I did not mean it and I apologize for it," he said. "Mr. Smith is a perfect gentleman so far as I know and I did not intend to say anything reflecting upon his character."

Almost Unanimous

When the resolution to award the contract to the Rasmussen company was put to a vote, all except Alderman McDonald voted for it. Mr. McDonald said he would not vote for it without having more information about the various kinds of asphalts.

Another resolution, also by Alderman Cassidy, instructed the board of public works to levy assessments against property on the streets to be paved in proportion to the benefits to be derived by reason of the paving and, after protests have been heard, to report back to the council. This was carried unanimously, and the council then passed on to other business.

RAISE CASH FOR WIDOW OF AN INNOCENT MAN

Milwaukee, Wis., June 21—The Milwaukee Sentinel has raised $892 for the widow of Joseph Wamser. Wamser was killed by Thomas Foran a week ago when he was passing the Foran home. To cover up her use of the family funds for another purpose, Mrs. Foran told her husband that a stranger had stolen the money and was again peering in the window. Foran rused out and shot Wamser dead.

FACES HARD BATTLE

Samuel Gompers Again in Danger of Defeat as Labor Chief

Denver, June 21.—The new order challenged the old in organized labor today. Samuel Gompers, who has directed the destinies of the American Federation of Labor for 39 years, faced today his second serious challenge for leadership at conventions in Denver.

In 1894 Gompers was defeated for the presidency in Denver by John McBride, a mine worker. In the contest for the office today, the only time since the 1894 defeat that Gompers' position as head of the labor movement has been seriously threatened, his opponent is a coal miner, John L. Lewis.

During the time he has headed the trades unions movement, Gompers built up a powerful organization. He is a slow careful leader. His actions are never striking but with cautiousness and sureness he reaches out to gain objectives near at hand.

MEDFORD AND POINT PLAY NEXT SUNDAY

Officially the Two Teams Meet for First Time—Play Protested Game in July

Claude Eagleburger's Wisconsin Valley Leaguers go to Medford next Sunday afternoon, there to meet the Medford aggregation.

Officially Stevens Point is playing Medford for the first time, as a game played in Stevens Point the first of the season was protested by Medford, after Stevens Point had won. The protest was made on the grounds that Wloszynski used the spit ball in his delivery. Medford's protest was upheld at a meeting of league officials later in the season, but Wloszynski was allowed to use the "spitter."

Stevens Point and Medford are to play off this game here some Saturday afternoon during the coming month.

Manager Eagleburger requests that persons intending to drive to Medford Sunday, who have room in their cars for a player or two will accommodate him by notifying him.
